

ANOTHER VIEW OF BREST

PRIVATE HERBERT C. JONES
WRITES OF ITS ASPECT, HIS-TORY, AND PEOPLE

The following very interesting, descriptive letter is from Private Herbert C. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jones, of North Cedar street, who has been in Uncle Sam's postal service over there for more than a year. He was on duty first at Paris, then sent to Bordeaux and is now at Brest. His parents are hoping that now, since he is at a port of embarkation it means that he will come home before long, but there is nothing in his letter to indicate a release. The letter enclosed a very interesting post card of a scene near Bordeaux. His mother has quite a collection of such views and he has also sent her a handsome lace collar and a German helmet.

"Brest, France,
"Jan. 27, 1919.

"My Dear Mother:—

"This is a queer old place; the town itself is located on a group of hills about the size of Mt. Washington in Los Angeles. The magnificent harbor lies far below and between the docks and the city is a very high stone wall, holding the hills in place; several paved, zig-zag streets lead up.

"On the land side, the scene is like a picture from Ancient History. The old city walls are standing in good condition with the gates that can be closed and the wide moats about the wall. In several places the walls are pierced with apertures where the old-time defenders could shoot without being seen. There is a river through a part of the city, and at the place where it empties into the bay is a very old castle with deep, dark dungeons cut out of the solid rock in the hill. There is also a 'shoot the shoot' where the king of

SOLDIER EMPLOYMENT

The local Exemption Board has received a communication from Adjutant General Borree as follows:

"It has been brought to the attention of this office that many of the registrants who were called to service during the month of November last are being refused employment or being replaced by returned soldiers. All such registrants should be given a letter, if they so request, informing the public that they were called to service and should be treated the same as returned soldiers, especially if they gave up employment in response to the order of the Board. The local Board should do its utmost to protect all registrants entitled to such protection."

Chairman Lanterman wants all registrants who were inducted into service by this Board, whether they responded to the last call or the first one, to understand that he is ready to give them every assistance possible in regaining their old employment or securing a new job.

ANNA BODE AT HOME

GRANTED A FIFTEEN-DAY ABSENCE FROM HER HOSPITAL DUTIES AT FT. BAYARD

Miss Anna Bode, who is an army nurse, and whose home is at 138 North Orange street, this city, is enjoying a fifteen-day furlough which will expire next Sunday, but which she hopes to get renewed so she can prolong her stay here. After the armistice was signed a good many applications for the release of nurses were accepted, but that policy no longer holds with the government. Although the war is over there is still work for the nurses in this country as wounded and gassed soldiers are being brought from France daily and distributed among the permanent army hospitals. As the one where Miss Bode has been in service at Fort Bayard, New Mexico, is such an one, she is likely to be needed for some time to come. Just before she left to come home, 2,000 sick and wounded soldiers were expected there.

She has no disposition to shirk the service as she enjoys her work and says she would not give the experience she has had for any money. Her motto is: "I serve to defeat death." She finds in the work a constant inspiration as the boys she tends are real heroes who bear their pains and disabilities with courage and cheerfulness. She is glad, however, to have the interval for rest at home and the change from the wintry climate of Fort Bayard, which is placed at an altitude of 6,000 feet, to the warmth and beauty of Southern California, and it may be a good while before she gets another furlough.

IS REV. EDMONDS IRISH?

Father O'Neill says he is inclined to think Rev. W. E. Edmonds is Irish. He is judging from the humor in the communication in Tuesday's Evening News signed by Rev. Edmonds. Father O'Neill says he also was "honored" by an invitation from Governor Stephens to attend a peace conference at Sacramento, but like Mr. Edmonds was not impressed with the idea of paying his expenses to and from Sacramento and gave the matter no more thought.

PLANS FOR PARK

GREATER GLENDALE DEVELOPMENT MEETING CHARACTERIZED BY PEP

Full of pep and full of real practical business is what may be briefly said about the meeting of the Greater Glendale Development Association at the Red Cross rooms Tuesday evening. Optimistic views prevailed, and the knocker was not present if there is even such a being left in Glendale now.

The first bomb of encouragement was set off when Roy L. Kent presented to a few of the early comers to the meeting a map representing a proposed industrial district for Glendale. This prospective industrial territory borders on the Southern Pacific railway in the western part of the city. Definite action as to the approval of Mr. Kent's plans will be taken up for the first order of business at the next meeting of the Association.

After the meeting had been called to order by President Norton C. Wells, and after Secretary C. D. Lusby had read the minutes of the preceding meeting, W. B. Kirk and Capt. W. B. Kelley, both of whom had attended a Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday, gave very interesting accounts of the proceedings of that affair. They stated that the purpose of the event was to bring together representatives of the cities adjacent to Los Angeles for the purpose of giving these cities an opportunity to unite with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in the building up of industrial activities in this section of California. The meeting had been called by Mr. Moreland, president of the L. A. Chamber of Commerce. Messrs. Kirk and Kelley reported that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce stands ready to assist Glendale in every way possible to secure industrial plants providing Glendale citizens will show that conditions are such that these factories will be given advantages of motor power, shipping facilities and residence accommodations for the employees. Both speakers gave notice that Glendale need not expect to get any of the industrial plums that will be given out in Southern California in the immediate future so long as her citizens sit with folded hands waiting for factory builders to thrust themselves and their worthy projects upon us.

A municipal park for Glendale was taken up for discussion. Mr. Kirk who had been appointed as a special committee on this subject, being the first speaker. Mr. Kirk recommended that attention be turned to securing a portion of the block west of the Glendale Sanitarium, north of Broadway and between Jackson and Kenwood streets, for park purposes. It was Mr. Kirk's opinion that a park could be purchased and improved in that block for an amount not to exceed $50,000.

Mr. Kirk announced that C. E. (Continued on Page 3)

MUSIC SECTION

ITS FRIDAY AFTERNOON PROGRAM WILL BE A BELGIAN BABY BENEFIT

The Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, on the corner of Central Avenue and Riverdale Drive. It will be Belgian Baby Relief Day and the members are asked to bring donations of clothing for infants and young children. A short but very nice musical program will be given, to which Miss Mason of Los Angeles will contribute several piano selections, and Mrs. Hellyer of Glendale will sing.

Refreshments of tea and home-made cake will be served under the direction of Mrs. Colin Cable at 15c per plate, the proceeds to go to the Belgian relief fund. All members of the club are invited to come and bring guests.

CLEMENCEAU SHOT BY ANARCHIST

FIRE, EIGHT BULLETS AT PREMIER, ONE OF WHICH LODGED IN BACK—SAID NOT TO BE SERIOUS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Feb. 19.—An 18-year-old French anarchist named Cotin shot and slightly wounded Premier Clemenceau this morning as Clemenceau was leaving his home in a motor car. Clemenceau was seating himself in his limousine when Cotin sprang forward and fired eight pistol shots. Six shots hit the front of the car and two penetrated the glass door, one of the shots striking Clemenceau on the right arm near the shoulder and lodging in his back near the spine.

"It's nothing!" declared Clemenceau as he stepped unassisted from his car and walked into the house.

Clemenceau's brother issued a statement saying the wound itself was not serious, the danger being of complications.

Police grabbed Cotin and another man rushed to the assistance of the premier. A crowd which gathered sprang upon Cotin and mauled him severely. Finally he was taken to jail, where he refused to make any statement.

Clemenceau sent word to Colonel House that he would be unable to attend the meeting of the peace delegates scheduled for this morning.

Noon reports from Clemenceau's home were to the effect that the injury was proving more serious than at first indicated, and an X-ray examination will be made late today.

Cotin is said to be a well known anarchist.

The official announcement said that several bullets passed through the clothing of Clemenceau's chauffeur, but he was unhurt.

King George of England, Secretary Baker and others cabled messages of sympathy, and President Poincaré and other French officials, as well as numerous peace delegates, are waiting at Clemenceau's home to express sympathy.

The news was sent to President Wilson at sea by wireless.

It is understood that Premier Clemenceau attaches no political significance to the attack.

The affair caused a temporary halt in peace negotiations today. All conferences were postponed pending more definite indications as to the seriousness of Clemenceau's injuries.

BOLSHEVIKI ATTACK BERLIN PRISON

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO FREE KARL RADEK, RUSSIAN EMISSARY, INCARCERATED THERE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Stockholm, Feb. 19.—Endeavoring to free Karl Radek, a Russian Bolshevik emissary, a Spartan mob attacked the Moabite prison in Berlin Saturday. Government troops repulsed them. Spartan outbreaks have been reported in Bavaria.

WOULD MAINTAIN ARMY IN RUSSIA

SENATOR M'CUMBER INTRODUCES RESOLUTION TO TAKE PLACE OF JOHNSON'S CALLING FOR RECALL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 19.—A resolution declaring the United States and the Allies should send an army to Russia to defeat the Bolsheviks was introduced into the Senate today by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, as a substitute for the resolution of Senator Johnson of California demanding the withdrawal of American forces from Russia.

ATTACK ON LEAGUE CONSTITUTION

SENATOR POINDEXTER OF WASHINGTON DECLARES IT IS MODELED ON RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVERNMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 19.—Senator Poindexter of Washington, speaking in the Senate today, attacked the league of nations constitution as "a frightful compilation and covenant" which will make the United States a part of a great international soviet.

He declared it wiped out America's traditional policy of "mind your own business."

Analyzing the document, article by article, he declared: "It proposes a world government modeled after the Russian soviet government."

"That it is part of the same internationalism that the I. W. W. and Bolsheviks advocate."

"That instead of bringing perpetual peace to the world, it will encourage war."

"That unless submitted to the American people in a political campaign for their approval or disapproval, popular government in the United States will disappear."

Poindexter denounced the President for requesting that there be no discussion of the league plan until he arrived, and declared its effect is the most momentous of anything since the civil war.

HOW THE BOYS MADE HISTORY

The Glendale Evening News has secured through the United Press a series of articles written by Webb Miller, telling what the different divisions did to make history over there. The Home Town boys were members of these units and as little was heard about the various divisions during the stress of fighting and the censorship that prevailed during the war, these articles, we think, will prove of interest. On another page of this issue Webb Miller tells what a wonderful part the First division played. Other articles will follow.

SHAKESPEAREAN TEA

MEMBERS OF TUESDAY CLUB SECTION REVIEW "AS YOU LIKE IT"

The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met at the home of the curator, Mrs. Charles Homer Temple, Orange Street, corner of Wilson Avenue, Monday at 2 o'clock.

Each member was asked to bring two guests and there was a large attendance. The hostess, in her ever gracious manner, welcomed the guests and invited all to join the section. This invitation was accepted by quite a number, making the section one of the largest in the club.

The roll was called and each answered with a quotation. Mrs. Ralston then gave a brief but splendid outline of the play, "As You Like It," which the class had finished in the four meetings held thus far. Mrs. McClure, the instructor, then introduced the characters, who then gave short scenes from each part. Representing the characters were:

Mrs. C. E. Norton as Frederick.
Mrs. Gertrude Follansbee, Rosalind.
Mrs. I. S. Levitt, Celia.
Mrs. C. H. Temple, Orlando.
Mrs. Charles Parker, Touchstone.
Mrs. Mabel Rudy, Corin.
Mrs. Lyons, Amicus.
Mrs. Halstead, Adam.

Between the acts Mrs. Wade of Ottawa, Canada, a winter visitor to California and a friend of Mrs. Charles Parker, gave several piano numbers, the music being written by the composers for the various Shakespearean plays.

Mrs. Charles Parker was in excellent voice and gave beautifully two solos, one by Nevin and one a song from the play.

Mrs. Fromme, a friend of Mrs. McClure, gave two readings, the first, "Aunt Jane," and the second, "Home-sick." These readings, while decidedly non-Shakespearean, were a delight to the audience.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in pepper boughs and acacia blooms and presented a miniature "Forest of Arden." After the program refreshments were served, tea and home-made cakes, which proved the ladies of the section good cooks as well as good actors and students.

DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE

The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, and thirty-six officers and teachers of the Presbyterian Sunday School gathered at the home of Mr. H. L. Finlay, the newly-elected Superintendent, and gave him a real old-fashioned surprise party. Games, music, eats, and speeches constituted the program of the evening.

VALENTINE PARTY

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL ENTERTAIN FOR THEIR CHILDREN

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell of North Glendale entertained for their daughter, Miss Kathleen Campbell, and their sons, Daniel and Arthur, with a pretty party Saturday evening from 7 to 10:30, at which about twenty-seven young people enjoyed their hospitality.

The Campbell home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with the early wild flowers, which grow in profusion in the surrounding foothills. It was a Valentine affair and each guest was the recipient of a Valentine program favor. Games and dancing furnished the diversions of the evening, which ended with a supper at which guests found their partners by matching mutilated hearts. As usual in affairs at the hospitable Campbell home, everybody had a delightful time.

TAXES FOR SCHOOLS

SUPT. R. D. WHITE EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF PENDING LEGISLATIVE MEASURES

Ever since the mobilization of men in army camps revealed the fact that there is a large amount of illiteracy in this country in spite of our boasted free educational system, there has been agitation for reforms which would take the control of schools in a measure out of local conditions. In other words, some have gone so far as to advocate national appropriations for the maintenance of public schools to the end that as good educational facilities might be provided in back country mountain districts as in the cities. While that change has not come yet, there is a movement in that direction which has manifested itself in state legislation in California.

At the recent meeting of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations Superintendent Richardson D. White reviewed bills which are now before the California Assembly and Senate which are designed to restore to the public schools of the state the much needed funds of which they were robbed when the poll tax (which had always gone to the school fund) was repealed. As nothing has been done to replace that loss, the schools have been crippled.

GOES NORTH TO WEDDING

Mrs. Wesley Bullis, of Central avenue and Los Feliz Road, returned Tuesday evening from a pleasant trip to Sacramento and San Francisco. She left Friday for the pleasant purpose of attending the wedding of her brother, R. V. Marden, of Sacramento, who was united in marriage to Miss Winifred Waite of that city. Mrs. Bullis reports that it was a very pretty affair and just the kind of a wedding young people should have to start them out properly in wedded life. From Sacramento Mrs. Bullis went to San Francisco in company with her brother, L. W. Marden, whose home is in Los Angeles, and the two returned by boat.

COMMENT OF THE COUNTRYSIDE

The war has changed the views of many men and women as to the importance of providing places of entertainment, amusement and recreation for the boys and girls. Boys and girls of today are the men and women of tomorrow, and when the war opened it was learned that the boys and girls were really the backbone of the nation. Adults took refuge in the shelter of the youth of the land. Congressmen voted themselves and men of like age exempt from military service and placed the burden of the war on the men from 19 to 31 years of age. These young men responded nobly and performed the job in a workmanlike manner. Now, since we allow the boys to protect us in war, let us be ready to provide proper and sanitary places of amusement for these growing boys—so full of pep and patriotism.

Automobile driving is done carelessly or carefully just as many other things are done. There is the foolhardy man in all avocations of life, and then there is the blunderbus who is too nervous and too slow to comprehend as to his surroundings. So long as such men are allowed to get behind a steering wheel of an automobile there is bound to be accidents and more accidents. The man who recklessly rushes along the crowded boulevard at 40 mile per hour speed, giving no heed to street intersections is scarcely more to be feared than the man who cuts corners, stalls his engine in the midst of traffic and is invariably on the wrong side of the street. It is important that men and women be educated to drive motor cars.

The automobile tire industry is becoming of such magnitude that it is difficult for the average mind to comprehend the greatness of this industry. Conditions are such that the industry will increase by leaps and bounds. Tire expense is the important item in the upkeep of an automobile. That tires cost the owners of cars too much is a well known fact, and it is up to automobile users to organize for the purpose of eliminating any unfair expense that enters into the manufacture and placing of tires on the market.

A few of the ministers of Glendale have commented upon the commonness of the invitation they have received to attend a peace conference at San Francisco. The make-up of the invitation would at first make these gentlemen believe that they were especially honored, when upon further inquiry the invitation proved to be of a very general nature. Newspaper publishers are so used to getting these distinguished honors for publication that the waste basket furnishes quick and sure resting place for most of the communications.

There is a spirit of co-operation prevailing among the citizens of Glendale that will count much for the success of business. The snarling objector to everything that is for the good of the community is not so much in evidence now. The ravages of war and influenza have taught thoughtful-minded men and women that it is not all of life to live in greed and selfishness.

Publicity is a winner in the end. Blow your horn and everybody looks,—advertise and people know you exist. The dead cannot advertise. We do not expect them to.

BUSINESS WILL BE GOOD

That America is entering upon a period of great prosperity is the opinion of the foremost captains of American industry.

E. H. Gary, says: "I predict that the next five years, in this country, will be the most progressive, prosperous and successful in our history; the results will astonish even the most optimistic of today."

Bernard M. Baruch, who has been shaping the national war industrial policy of the United States, says: "The most prosperous period in the history of the United States is about to dawn."

Life insurance publications marvel at the reports coming in from every direction, all of which state that "business is good," or "business is improving."

The Saturday Evening Post's editorial writer says the next twenty years will see America the most prosperous nation the world has ever seen.

Rest assured: Business will be good.

WATCH OUT FOR THESE FELLOWS

There is every indication that Liberty Loan Bonds, issued during the war, will greatly rise in value with the establishment of peace. In 1888 a $100 United States bond, bearing 4 per cent interest, sold in the open market for $130. In 1901 it brought more than $139. The most conservative will agree that Liberty Bonds are sure to go above par in value, now that the Allies have brought the war to a victorious end.

The shrewd and unscrupulous, the birds of prey in finance, realize the worth of Liberty Bonds, and are using every effort to secure them from those who are uninformed in financial matters. Their favorite method is to offer stock in wildcat companies—stock that is absolutely valueless—in exchange for Liberty Bonds. Some of these get-rich-quick schemes offer to lend their prospective victims money, wherewith to buy the goldbrick stock, taking Liberty Bonds as security. This, of course, is only a thinly disguised attempt to obtain Liberty Bonds for worthless stock.

The United States owns some 5,000,000 acres of oil lands and 53,000,000 acres of coal lands, the title to which belongs to the Federal Government. Since all owners of Liberty Bonds are part owners of this government, it would be palpably foolish of them to exchange their Liberty Bonds for oil or coal stocks of doubtful value.

Before disposing of his bonds, the holder thereof would do well to consult a banker.

EMPLOY RETURNING SOLDIERS

The future of America depends upon the attitude of our returning soldiers. If they oppose red revolution and bloodshed, and stand for the great American idea, GOVERNMENT BY BALLOTS, NOT BULLETS, the country will be safe. The temporary madness that would lead to revolution will pass. Men will ultimately regain partial sanity. They will see the wisdom of liberty under the law. But if returning soldiers have their minds poisoned and their judgments destroyed by this strange foreign malady that teaches government by a minority, through force and terror, no one dares to predict the outcome.

Government by force is repugnant to our American ideals. The will of the majority as expressed at the ballot-box will be supported by every lover of freedom, but the Russian madmen induced the soldiers to help them kill their fellows until the madmen now rule Russia. Are they to be trusted not to kill those who helped them to kill others, in the event of serious differences of opinion with those who helped them kill? If they were willing to gain control by killing, will they not be willing to keep control by killing?

Let every business man in every city, town and hamlet in this country at once become tremendously in earnest in his efforts to find work for the returning soldier. Laboring men have no means of finding such employment for them, but patriotic workingmen can lend vital assistance in the work.

Every business man in this country should join the organizations that have the welfare of the returning soldier in hand. He should lose no time in joining. He is not a good patriot if he fails in these perilous times. Not a moment should be lost.—The Commonwealth.

"RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH"

There will be a general satisfaction that the Santa Fe, New Mexico, famous contempt of court case has resulted in a striking judicial reaffirmation of the constitutional rights of free speech and a free press. Specifically, the case was that of an improper exercise of contempt power by a district judge, and the outcome is a weighty opinion by the New Mexico Supreme Court in which the limitations of contempt for jurisdiction are defined with remarkable clearness and precision. But the New Mexican's attorney, Herbert D. Mason, formerly of New York, made a broad contention in behalf of a free press, which is sustained by the holding of the high court that "under our theory of government the rights of freedom of speech and of the press are essential to public welfare."

While the right of free speech does not warrant attacks upon courts of judges which will interfere with the administration of justice, the New Mexican court notes that "the force of public opinion has greatly restrained the courts in the exercise of the power to punish for making disrespectful or injurious remarks" concerning the judiciary.

The case arose out of a district judge's interference with an attempt to have an attorney disbarred. Disbarment proceedings were begun before the state board of bar examiners, but were dismissed when the trial judge filed an affidavit which appeared to exonerate the attorney completely. After this step, the New Mexican, a defendant in the case out of which the accusation against the attorney had arisen, published articles wherein an attempt was made to show that the political business and personal affiliations of the judge might have prompted him to make the affidavit. Then contempt proceedings were brought against the editor, and he was sentenced to thirty days in jail. An appeal was taken.

The judge contended that the criticism impaired his ability to administer justice in certain cases then pending, but the cases referred to were indictments for criminal libel arising out of the newspaper's attacks on the same political faction. These cases, already several months old, had never been brought to trial, and there was no indication that they would be. Attorney Mason argued before the supreme court that if this contention were sustained, the effect would be to make it possible for any interested person to stop a newspaper campaign against conditions by filing a suit which would bring the matter into the courts.—Monrovia News.

HOME RULE FOR GERMANY

There is at least poetic justice in the lament of the Irish volunteer who fought his way four times across the bloody plains of Flanders, "The League of Nations do be f'r givin' home rule to Germany and not to Ireland."

LA CANADA

Miss Augusta Condit, who has been the guest of Miss Tuttle at the Waterman bungalow for several weeks, left for her home at Columbus, Ohio, on Monday.

Judge Sargent is improving his five-acre tract facing on Mountain avenue. He is having it leveled and planted to grapes and will soon put in orange trees, his plan being to grow grapes between the tree rows.

Letters from Dr. Scott, former pastor of the Congregational Church, indicate that he and Mrs. Scott are well and enjoying their winter at Pacific Grove.

Miss White, one of the best known authorities on goats, whose home is at Altadena, is moving the first of March to La Crescenta, where she has bought ten acres and is re-establishing her goatery. She is a cultivated English woman and is said to have some of the finest goats in this country, particularly of the Swiss breeds. A goat show by the American Goat Society is slated for May 21st, which is expected to take place somewhere in the neighborhood of Pasadena though the place has not been selected yet.

Don Smith of La Canada boulevard has nearly completed the building of a large barn on property recently purchased, in which his fine horses will be housed. He plans to build a bungalow later in the season.

The La Canada Thursday Club met at the home of Mrs. P. H. Johnson on Feb. 13th. A business meeting preceded the program and it was decided to hold an evening meeting once a month open to the husbands of the Club members. Five dollars was donated to the Armenian-Syrian Relief. The program was enjoyed by all, and much interest was shown in the subject, "Some Notable Persons of the Day," so attractively presented by Mrs. N. Maynard. The Roll Call Topic, "Current Events," was responded to with many items of interest. The word critic, Mrs. F. H. Holden, made a thorough report on words requested. During the social hour, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mesdames C. B. Anderson, Horn, Maynard, Holden, McComber, McDonald, Pate, Johnson, Stultz, Seright, Waterman, Selleck, Metcalf, Schieffelin, Miss Young, Guests, Mrs. F. Granger, Mrs. E. E. Todd of Seattle, Miss Harriet Seright of Zanesville, O.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the entertainer, "having blindfolded my partner, I will now proceed to test her thought reading power. I have in my hand an apple. Will you kindly tell the audience what it is that I am holding?"

"An apple."

"Correct. I have here a watch. Kindly tell the audience what I have."

"A watch."

"Quite right. You see, ladies and gentlemen, it is impossible to catch her."

The entertainer produced a piece of wood and a saw, and commenced to saw vigorously.

"Kindly tell the audience what I am doing."

No reply.

"This is rather a difficult feat, ladies and gentlemen. I will try again. Can you tell them what I am doing?" said the entertainer, continuing his sawing.

"Yes, you are singing!"

Loud applause.

Personals

The Mothers' Club of the Magnolia School is meeting this week Thursday afternoon.

William Thomson, of 310 North Jackson, has been confined to his bed for several days by illness resulting from a severe cold.

The Philanthropic Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club is meeting today with Mrs. Oliver Clark of 346 North Louise street.

John Williams, of Vancouver, has arrived in Glendale to be with his sister, Mrs. A. L. Pack, of 130 South Adams street, who has been critically ill and is still in a precarious condition.

Mrs. Eustace B. Moore will spend Thursday in Los Angeles in attendance on the Dorcas Society of the Nazarene Church, which will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Brown, one of its most active members.

Mrs. Louise Morehouse, who underwent a severe operation at Thornycroft a week ago Saturday, is doing nicely and making an excellent recovery although it will be necessary for her to remain at the hospital for another week.

Miss Mildred McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McKee, of Colorado boulevard, is entertaining Friday evening with an informal dancing party in honor of her cousin, Homer Plannette, who returned from army service in France about a week ago.

The County Supervisors have adopted an ordinance imposing a fine of $1 to $100 or imprisonment for from one to fifty days, or both fine and imprisonment for thefts of fruits and nuts from orchards in Los Angeles county. There has been great complaint of such thefts the past two years.

The Community Sing will take place Thursday evening in the High School auditorium as usual at 7:45 o'clock. It is hoped that as large an audience as came out last Thursday will be present to enjoy the sing which will be of special interest this time as a larger proportion of the evening can be given to the features that are most enjoyed by the singers.

Patriotic programs are being arranged in nearly all the schools for Friday afternoon in celebration of Washington's Birthday and in commemoration of Abraham Lincoln. At the Acadia School Mrs. E. B. Moore, the chairman of Patriotism, will be present and direct the salute to the flag and patriotic drill. Superintendent R. D. White will be the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. G. H. Rowe, of 216 South Orange street, will attend the Elgin, Illinois, picnic Saturday which will be held at Exposition Park, Los Angeles. Mrs. Rowe's old home was Dundee, Illinois, in Kane county, and as this picnic is intended to bring together all former residents of that county in Illinois or of the Fox River towns, she is spreading abroad the announcement of the affair and inviting all persons interested to attend.

Mrs. Harry Hughes of Los Angeles was a luncheon guest Tuesday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue. Thursday evening the doctor and Mrs. Hogue motored to Santa Ana to dine with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. N. Allen of that city. It will be remembered that Mrs. Allen was critically ill with influenza and pneumonia, but is now making steady progress toward recovery and is in almost normal health. The Hagues will return to Glendale the same night.

Mrs. Paul Wells was gladdened by a visit from her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Davy, who drove down from Bakersfield for the week-end. They brought with them a discharged soldier, Private Harry McCabe of Chicago, who has been in service in an Oregon camp and is now seeking work in California. He has gone to Los Angeles to try to find it, but may come back to see Mrs. Wells Sunday and if any one has a job for a big, husky young fellow, he is requested to communicate with Mrs. Wells.

The Brotherhood meeting of the First Methodist Church, before which Dr. E. H. Willisford was to have spoken Friday evening, has been postponed on account of the party to be given the boys who have returned from military service. The committee has tried to reach all the boys who are back, but it is almost impossible to do so but every boy who has been in service is cordially invited to the Welcome Party to be given by all the Young People's Societies of the Valley at the First Methodist Church Friday, Feb. 21st, at 7:30 p. m.

Will confer the Royal Arch Degree Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. All Royal Arch Companions are invited.

CLEM L. V. MOORE,
James Wyvell, High Priest.
Secretary.

PLANS FOR PARK

Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, was present, and he might be able to give some information as to the possibility of the city purchasing the Sanitarium grounds for park purposes. Mr. Kimlin was called upon to speak on the subject, and he said it was the desire of the Sanitarium to dispose of the property now used by them and build more extensively in some other part of Glendale, the location of which would be entirely suitable for such an institution. Instead of being able to accommodate seventy patients as is the case in the present quarters the proposed building should accommodate one hundred-fifty patients.

At this juncture Richardson D. White, principal of the Glendale city schools, arose and spoke a few minutes very earnestly on the importance of doing something for the entertainment and recreation of the boys of our city and especially for the young men who are returning from war service. He therefore suggested that steps be taken to establish a memorial park that will tend to, in part, pay the great debt we owe to the young men who so nobly defended our country and to the boys who are growing up and ever stand ready to defend it.

Mattison B. Jones followed with this motion: That a special committee be appointed by the president of such numbers as he may determine to join with the standing committee on parks and playgrounds, to be known as the memorial committee, whose duties it should be to take steps to place before the city the establishment of a park within the city to include a civic center, said park and civic center to be a memorial to all persons of Glendale and vicinity who served our country in the recent world war in the military, naval and all other branches of the Nation's service.

The motion received the unanimous support of those present. The chair, after due consideration, appointed the following committee: Chairman, R. D. White, T. W. Watson, W. B. Kirk, Mattison B. Jones, Dr. Harrower, Clarence Jay, J. Herbert Smith.

Mr. Jones made a second motion: That the Greater Glendale Development Association most cordially invites all organizations, church, educational, civic and otherwise, within Glendale and vicinity, to co-operate with this Association in commemorating this great purpose, requesting each organization to name a special committee to work in conjunction with aforesaid committee. This motion carried.

Chairman Wells then called for a report as to postoffice conditions in Glendale. Dr. Henry R. Harrower was the first to speak as to the poor mail service. He said he had repeatedly taken the matter up with Postmaster Brown and his assistants, but conditions had not been much improved. Upon inquiry, it was found that almost all persons present at the meeting had cause to offer complaint as to the poor mail service Glendale is getting. Mattison B. Jones, A. T. Cowan, J. Herbert Smith and others spoke on the subject.

A motion prevailed that Postmaster Harrington Brown be invited to visit Glendale through Secretary Lusby of the Greater Glendale Development Association and confer with the following committee appointed by the chair: Dr. H. R. Harrower, A. T. Cowan, C. E. Kimlin, J. Herbert Smith, C. D. Lusby and Roy L. Kent. It was suggested by the chair that all members of the Association who could conveniently attend this conference do so.

James T. McClellan spoke pointedly in favor of improving Broadway its entire length and finally making arrangements to get direct connection to Griffith Park. His recommendation met with the hearty approval of those present.

Adjournment was made to hold the next weekly meeting of the Association in the auditorium of the Intermediate School at the corner of Lenwood and Wilson avenue, Tuesday evening, Feb. 25th.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—An examination for young men desiring to enter West Point will be held here today, under the auspices of Senator James D. Phelan. Young men above the age of 22 and physically fit are eligible for the examination. Many discharged soldiers are expected to take advantage of this opportunity.

TAXES FOR SCHOOLS

is $15 per unit of average daily attendance. By raising that amount to $17.50 the sum previously received from the poll tax will be in a great measure restored and this is what Assembly Bill 242 aims to do. This is a measure which the Glendale Federation and Parent-Teacher Associations generally are indorsing.

In connection with this is the provision by the state per statutory teacher, i. e., a teacher to each 35 of average daily attendance. The present amount which the state gives on this basis is $250. The increase provided for under Bill 242 would enable the state to increase the apportionment per statutory teacher from $250 to $350. Most districts in order to bring their schools up to modern standards find it necessary to increase the statutory number of teachers. Glendale, for instance, employs 30 per cent. more because it cannot do efficient work with a smaller number of instructors.

From the county tax for school purposes heretofore $300 per teacher has been apportioned of which $150 was used for teachers' salaries and $150.00 for running expenses. This would make the compulsory allotment only $400 for the minimum teacher's salary.

Assembly Bill 245 provides for an increase of the county allotments for schools of from $300 to $600. In connection with this bill is another, viz.: Assembly Bill 654, which provides that this $600 apportionment per statutory teacher shall be so divided that $400 shall be applied to teachers' salaries and $200 to running expenses. By this provision the minimum salary per statutory teacher would be raised to $750, which is a small enough amount.

The balance needed for the maintenance of schools would then be raised by local taxation.

The adoption of these bills will therefore mean some increase in the county tax for school purposes, but will reduce the local tax. At the present time the state pays $15 per year for average daily attendance and the county, $13. Thus $28 is all that is paid the school district from state and county per average daily attendance. The actual expense is a great deal more than that amount. In Southern California in general it costs not less than $45 per unit of average daily attendance and in many districts, notably Venice, a much higher amount. In Glendale the cost averages $47.50 per year per average daily attendance. The difference between these two allowances and the actual cost has to be made up by local taxation. Under the proposed bills referred to above, the state will pay $17.50 and the county $25.00, or $42.50 per unit of average daily attendance, leaving a comparatively small sum to be raised by local taxation. In districts like Glendale, which are rich in children but not so rich in assessment valuation, these bills would be a material aid and lift some of the burden by a more equal distribution on all the people of the state and county without impairing the efficiency of the schools.

The resume of these bills was secured from Superintendent White who believes that our efficient representative in the legislature, Assemblyman John Robert White, will render good service in promoting the passage of the three bills referred to.

COXSRAIN LEHMAN HOME

Marion L. Lehman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lehman, of 935 North Louise street, has returned to Glendale after receiving his discharge from the navy from which he was released at Goat Island, San Francisco, last Thursday, with the rank of Coxswain. He enlisted nine months ago and is still listed in the Naval Reserve as subject to call. He does not regret his experience which, he believes, will be of great value to him in many ways, but he is very glad to get home, now that the war is over, and will resume his interrupted studies in the Southwestern University Law School in Los Angeles.

CHURCH SOCIAL

An excellent audience enjoyed the monthly social given by the Ladies' Aid of the Riverdale Methodist Church on Central avenue Tuesday evening. A miscellaneous program of music and readings and a series of amusing guessing contests and games furnished amusement for young and old and it proved a highly successful affair.

Character readings were given by Mrs. Pennyman, the first, an Irish version of a Thanksgiving celebration detailing the feeding, killing, cooking and eating of the Thanksgiving turkey. The second number, negro dialect, described the finding of Little Moses by Pharaoh's daughter. Little Obed Lucas gave some very nice readings, and the girls of one of the Sunday School classes sang a pretty and tuneful costume song.

Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee at ten cents a plate, and the sale of candy by girls of the Sunday School, netted a neat sum, and the pleasure of the evening was clear profit.

"Did your son go through college?"

"Yes."

"What course did he take?"

"A zig-zag one between the different studies, to judge from results."

STATE NEWS

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—When William Howard Taft, former president of the United States steps on the platform at the Municipal Auditorium here tonight, he will have at his side Henry Van Dyke, former minister to The Netherlands, also a distinguished writer and who is to be one of the principal speakers at tonight's and tomorrow night's meeting of the Pacific Coast Congress of the League of Nations. With these two will also be Frank P. Walsh, former member of the War Labor Board. It is expected that ex-President Taft will analyze the recently announced constitution of the League of Nations. Bolshevism will come in for its share of denunciation from the former executive in his fight for the league. Added to the already eminent list of speakers announced, Captain Thomas G. Chamberlain, of the anti-aircraft division, who has just returned from service over-seas, will tell how our hero dead died, and why this nation must preserve the ideal for which they gave their lives.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 19.—The California State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation met here today with representatives and finger print experts from principal cities in the state in attendance. The sessions will be daily until the 22d. The meetings will be characterized by addresses on subjects of criminology bearing on the finger print method of identifying and running down criminals, and plans will be laid for a more uniform system and stronger co-operation throughout the state. Among those in attendance are the following experts: August Vollmer, Berkeley; J. H. Nedderman, Oakland; C. D. Lee, Berkeley; C. H. Stone, Bakersfield; F. Florentine and Sheriff J. W. Cline, Los Angeles; A. O. Juel, San Francisco, and many others.

Thursday there will be another installment of the allied war review and topics of the day by the Literary Digest. The big picture will feature the star, Norma Talmadge in a picturesque Indian impersonation in "The Heart of Weton." A shipbuilding romance is "The Road to France," which gives splendid dramatic opportunities for the two popular stars, Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley. Burton Holmes' outdoor pictures will also be shown.

FIRST DIVISION WON GLORY ON MANY BATTLE FIELDS

By WEBB MILLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN THIRD ARMY ON THE RHINE, Feb. 2. (By Mail).—When "the boys get back" and the folks at home begin to hear the real story of the war from the lips of the fighting men, there is going to be a lot of talk about the —th division or the —th division and the fighting qualities thereof. Then about 30,000 men are going to be proud to say they belong to the First Division.

Owing to the censorship and the rush and stress during the fighting, little has been heard of the accomplishments of the various divisions except in brief official announcements. Herewith is a brief resume of the activities of the destined-to-be famous First Division.

The division is composed of the Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth regiments of infantry—organizations with histories dating back to Revolutionary war days. At the outbreak of war these regiments were stationed along the Mexican border. Under the reorganization plans the original outfits were split up and the skeleton organizations filled up with new men from every part of the United States.

After a 2000-mile journey half way across the continent, the First embarked for "a French port" at 2 a. m., June 10, 1917. The grueling training was continued even on board ship. Upon landing at St. Nazaire—the first division to set foot upon French soil—the troops were hurried across France to training areas. Four companies of the Sixteenth were diverted and marched through Paris on July 4th. Then followed weeks of stiff training in the Gondrecourt area under the tutelage of the 4th French Chasseurs. Then the unforgettable entry into the trenches in the Sommeville sector. For ten days the First changed places by battalions with French troops and got its first close-up glimpse of the Hun. It was a battery of the First that fired the historic "first shot of the war." On Jan. 15th the division was considered to have graduated and was entrusted with the Toul sector, which the old-timers considered a "rest area," but was enlivened with trench-raids and frequent artillery-firing. The next tour of duty in the trenches began late in April in the Cantigny sector, which was considerably more active. For some time the Germans threw over an average of 20,000 shells per day upon a narrow front, with the American artillery replying with a will.

On May 28th the Twenty-eighth infantry smashed over the first real American attack, capturing the village of Cantigny, and dealing the Boche a stiff blow. After an intense artillery preparation which reduced the village to dust, the Twenty-eighth "went over" at 6:45 in the morning on a front of about one and one-half miles. Within 40 minutes the Americans had reached every objective and pushed ahead to a depth of about a mile in some places, capturing 220 men and five officers. Within a few hours after the attack the Germans launched seven distinct counter-attacks which were repulsed after desperate fighting. But the First had proved to the satisfaction of the world that it could lick the German.

After a few days the division was withdrawn to a rest area. Marshal Foch was now preparing the great blow which was to send the Germans reeling back from the salient which was menacing Paris—and the First was assigned to a place of honor in the line.

On one of those breathless days in July when the fate of civilization was hanging in the balance, came the orders to move. In the evening endless lines of motor trucks roared into the rest area and the troops were jammed aboard. Throughout the night the columns of trucks hurried along the roads toward the front. At dawn the division detrucked in a forest about 12½ miles behind the trenches, and camped during the day hidden from the prying eyes of German flyers.

The march was resumed at night-fall. Through three lines of hurrying traffic the First pushed on rapidly and camped again in a wood, only a few miles behind the lines. At dusk the last lap of the march began. Along the jammed roads the men marched in single and double file to their places for the momentous battle at daybreak. Just ahead the guns were thundering, the whole sky was aglare with the terrific artillery fire. The German night-flyers skimmed over the roads machine-gunning and bombing the crowded thoroughfare, and many fell before reaching the line. The First division was given the important point southwest of Soissons, near Missy-aux-Bois.

At 4:35 a. m. on July 18th the barrage lifted, and the First went forward in what was probably the most decisive battle in history. In some of the bloodiest fighting of the war, this division drove ahead from eight to ten miles within five days against almost superhuman resistance, and captured the heights southwest of Soissons.

In the five days there was not a single minute of pause in the terrible fighting. Five separate attacks were made and a dozen counter-attacks repulsed. So heavy was the fighting that at times battalions were commanded by lieutenants and sergeants—all other officers were casualties. In Major Roosevelt's battalion every officer was hit within a few hours and a sergeant commanded the unit for a time.

The number of prisoners and guns captured in the face of such resistance showed the character of the fighting—3375 men and 125 officers were sent through the cages, and the material captures included 150 field guns, 300 machine-guns and great quantities of other material.

Then followed several weeks of rest and training of replacements while the wounds of the division were bound up. Meanwhile General Pershing was bringing to a close the plans for the battle of St. Mihiel.

Early in September the First was moved stealthily into the lines near Beaumont. On the morning of September 12th the division "went after them" again and helped wipe the St. Mihiel salient off the map. Beside the fighting at Soissons, this was a field day for the veterans of the First. Within 19 hours some elements had advanced from 10 to 12 miles. At places the resistance was stiff and considerable machine-gun fighting developed. The division bagged 1190 prisoners, a quantity of guns, ammunition, and three locomotives.

With another short rest the First was again on the way to another great battle. In conjunction with the French, General Pershing was laying plans for the battle of the Argonne, which was aimed to cut the vital artery between the northern and southern German army groups. Again the First was given an important point.

The attack was launched eastward of the Argonne, October 4th. The First "went over" in the Chepy sector near Varennes in the face of desperate resistance. The Germans realized the vast importance of every yard of ground—a captured army order told them that "the fate of the empire depended" upon their holding. With the difficult terrain and several powerful defense systems in their favor the Germans fought like madmen. But the line was pushed ahead yard by yard, day after day, until the division had gained more than four miles within eight days. This division was opposed by elements of eight different German divisions. The distracted German commander threw division after division into the path of the advance.

Before its withdrawal to rest camps, the First captured 137 men and 38 officers.

With evidences that the German military machine was rapidly going to pieces, came a series of quick, hard blows. The First division was hurried up to the lines again and attacked toward Mouzon on November 6th. By noon it had reached Mouzon. The Germans were on the run and the line pushed ahead five miles in as many hours. Some prisoners and material were captured.

That night the division was assembled and advanced in five columns toward Sedan. Then ensued the race toward Sedan. With the Germans retreating in disorder, the advance elements met only slight resistance, but on the morning of the 7th ran into a stiff machine-gun resistance on the heights near Sedan, which they quickly smashed through. Although the doughboys did not know, the war was in its last hours. Everywhere the Boche was running. That was enough to know and the First wanted to be in the chase. But owing to several French and American units converging upon the same objective—Sedan—the First was ordered back at 2 p. m. Nov. 7th. Much to their disappointment the boys were pulled back to southward of Besace. There they stood when the armistice went into effect.

In a few days the division was on the march again—on the "big hike" to the Rhine. On Nov. 17th the division crossed No-Man's-Land near Abaucourt and advanced toward German soil, marching steadily through Lorraine and Luxembourg, and reaching the German frontier on the Moselle in nine days of hard marching. After 12 days more of marching over muddy roads in cold rains the First reached the Rhine and crossed at dawn of the 13th at Coblenz. By 4 p. m. the next day the First reached its goal—the farthest point of the bridgehead—and settled down in occupation of one-third of the bridgehead area after a march of about 216 miles.

According to final reports of casualties completed after reaching the bridgehead, the First division lost as follows:

	Officers	Men
Killed	167	2,991
Wounded	417	12,546
Gassed	101	4,147
Captured and missing	30	3,575
	715	23,259

BOYCOTT IS BIG JOB

(By United Press)

LONDON, Jan. 30. (By Mail).—British Associated Chambers of Commerce have been unable to devise any effective method of boycotting Germany with its 70,000,000 inhabitants, despite demands for the boycott from every locality.

Resolutions declaring boycotts have been passed in all of the big English colonies. In England, France and Belgium hotel men's associations have resolved to refuse to house Germans as guests.

"I'm trying to get back to my poor old mother," whined the tramp. "She ain't seen my face for ten long years."

"I believe you are telling the truth," muttered the old gentleman. "Why don't you wash it?"

ORDERS AS TO WEARING OF UNIFORM

An order from the war department forbidding the solicitation by civilian tailors of soldiers about to be discharged, for the purchase of uniforms. The men can legally wear only the uniforms issued by the government. According to this order, discharged men may only wear their uniform from the point of demobilization to their homes within three months of his discharge. Thereafter the officer may wear his uniform only on ceremonial occasions. The order reads as follows:

"Present law authorizes a discharged officer or soldier to wear his uniform from the place of discharge to his home, within three months of the date of his discharge from the service. Thereafter the officer may wear his uniform only upon occasions of ceremony.

"The enlisted man must return his uniform within four months of the date of discharge, but can wear it only as stated above.

"An act is now before congress which, if passed, will authorize enlisted men to keep the uniform which they are permitted to wear home, and to wear that particular uniform only provided some distinctive mark of insignia, to be issued by the war department, shall be worn.

"It will thus be clearly seen that neither under existing or proposed law will a discharged soldier be permitted to wear uniforms made by civilians or other tailors. They may legally wear only the particular uniform which they have been permitted to retain.

"Commanding officers or camps, posts and stations will give the widest publicity to this information, both among the soldiers of their commands and in the local press. No person will be permitted to solicit orders for, or deliver uniforms to, soldiers about to be discharged. Persons or concerns persisting in selling uniforms to such soldiers, after having been warned not to do so, will not be permitted to come on or do business on the reservation.

"By order of the Secretary of War.
"PEYTON C. MARCH,
"General Chief of Staff."

A school inspector put some questions to the lower grade boys on the common objects of the school room. "What is the use of that map?" he asked, pointing to one stretched across one side of the room.

"Hides the place where the plaster came off," chorused a dozen shrill voices.

Mrs. Nuritch—Edith, haven't I warned you against the vulgar habit of shortening men's names? Say Peter Rark.

A certain man said he did not believe in the Bible because it said that Balaam's ass talked like a man. Whereupon another man spoke up and said: "It ought to be as easy for an ass to talk like a man as for a man to talk like an ass."

ANOTHER VIEW OF BREST

'ye olden time' could amuse himself by sending down anyone that displeased him, the victim would slide down about 250 feet and impale on some spears or swords fastened at the bottom, where he would remain until the tide lifted him off. Such were the innocent amusements of the monarchs of 2000 years ago! The history says that this castle was completed 35 B. C.

"Within a hundred yards of the castle is a fine, modern swing bridge across which the huge American auto trucks tear across day and night and a little further up we find a surrendered German submarine nearly 500 feet long. Everywhere we find the ancient and the modern. As I was walking along a country road last Sunday, I met an old native of Brittany, clothed in velvet with wooden shoes and a broad, black hat with a velvet crown and two streamers a yard long—walking along whistling "The Yanks Are Coming."

The women dress in black and white with wooden shoes and all, both old and young, wear very small lace caps or bonnets of white lace. These are always stiffly starched and clean.

"The people are of a much higher type than those around Bordeaux, yet very different from the people about Paris.

"The American forces have practically taken over the management of the port and city military police (American) direct the traffic at all important corners, etc.

"This port is sending home over 3000 troops each day, and will soon be able to handle 5000 a day. We are shipping mail practically every day.

"The harbor facilities do not permit the large transports to come to the docks, owing to their great draught, so the soldiers and mail are taken to the ships in the outer harbor on lighters. About 800 men are carried on a lighter at one time.

"A letter from you is past due!" "Am feeling very fine. A change always is good for me. I'd like to take a long ocean voyage soon! I still think June will find me home. With love to you and father.

"Your boy,
"BERT."

Eugene Heflinger had the bad luck to step on a nail and it went almost through his foot. Under the care of Dr. Thompson, of Burbank, it is doing nicely, but it is very painful.

Dr. Rowley is having his block in Sunland cleared of weeds and plowed with the view of setting it out to tomatoes.

Miss Lucile Muchner, who has been doing the book-keeping at the olive factory, resigned her position this week and returned to her home in Pasadena.

The petty thieving in the valley is getting to be almost unbearable. Entering the chicken yards, taking a nice, fat hen and in a few nights more going back to get the fattest rabbit in the pen. They might better take them all at once and save the owners a little feed.

Mr. Henry Branstetter from the Little Tujunga Canyon is moving into one of the Ranger's tents on his property, while he is pruning and cultivating his trees on his five-acre ranch.

Mr. Andrew Peddie, who had a complete physical breakdown some months ago, is so far recovered as to return to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woolsey are improving their chicken ranch with a brooder house to hold 2000 chicks.
